

THE FAIR.

POMOLOGICAL SPLENDORS FOR THE VISITORS.

Formal Opening Yesterday—A Good Crowd—Single Mistake of the Band—More of the Entries—The Textile and Fancy Work Departments.

The Pomological Fair was to have been opened yesterday at 10 o'clock, but owing to the large number applying for admission the managers started their ticket-seller to work at 10 a. m., and threw open the doors to a large crowd. The afternoon despite the attraction of the parade, but fell off in the evening. This was due, perhaps, to the crowd being tired out, and partly to an astounding mistake by Meines Band. The band had been sent by the Odd Fellows to play in the Pavilion, in which the fair is being held, and furnish music for the crowd. Instead it played in the pavilion in the park and drew the crowd away, which was quite a different thing.

A large attendance is expected today, as the fair is now in full blast, and there are no exemptions in the city.

President Carey says it is the best fruit exhibit seen here in 10 or 15 years, and it is the opinion of old fruit-growers that the display has never been beaten.

The long tables down the sides of the hall are crowded from end to end with great heaps of fruit, such as the eye seldom looks upon. Pyramids of oranges look down upon great piles of mammoth apples with smooth and shining skins. Quinces and pomegranates, peaches and figs, peaches and grapes lie side by side in a profusion and richness of color that strikes the eye like a chromatic rainbow, while the fragrance of the orchards and groves floats through the air. The size of the fruit, its color and perfect condition is a revelation of the possibilities of the pomological industry in the future.

At the ends of one of the fruit tables are some pretty big pumpkins, raised by Milton Thomas of Los Angeles. The pumpkins are closed, and without irrigation. They look about two feet thick, and one of them weighs 150 pounds. On the opposite side of the hall are any number of big pumpkins and squashes, any one of which would keep a poor man in pies for a long time. The display of other vegetables was also very fine. Around the ends of the tables are the exhibits of industries and arts. There is a potter's wheel where clay is molded into vases and jars, and quantities of marble and granite displays of polished monuments and finished statues, and a competitive design for the city of Los Angeles. This is shown by William McLean of this city.

In the corner where the handsome quilt hangs the San Gabriel Relief Committee gather in the votes to see what candidate shall have it in his spare bedroom this winter. It is beautiful to look on, and would be a much needed account in a New England hall bedroom with the water frozen solid in the pitcher. Last night the pool stood high, and the relief committee had many a year of experience in the art of practice and the art of the sewerage. The committee are urged to come in force today and help their champion through next winter's blizzards by their votes.

The Davis Sewing Machine Company have a handsome bonholder on the west side of the hall, which is built with bright silks and velvets, and embroidered with fine machines. Mrs. Voorhees has a glove department adjacent, making a specialty of ladies' stockings gloves.

A little prize stand adjacent, on which grow the most magnificent lilacs ever seen about here. They are great pink flowers, and are called the "Pinkie" from the fact that they bloom in the pink color. White and pink lilacs also bloom, and strewn flowers before the pool perfume the air. A queer plant with tinted flowers called a columbine. These flowers come from Edgewood, where R. D. Sturtevant of Bordenwood, N. J., has a branch establishment. Mrs. L. J. Gary has an art of flower painting, and a large assortment of color, and deserves a more extended notice hereafter.

In the women's fancy goods room, the first thing that strikes the eye is the case of beautiful ostrich feathers, black and white, and curly from the ostrich farm. Two are so big they strike the eye themselves, and make very pretty pictures, too.

There are a great number of pieces of fancy work in this room, evincing an amount of patient labor and skill that amounts to genius. The ladies, with the patience and perseverance characteristic of the sex, have made out of rubbish real works of art.

The art department proper, on the other side, has been made very attractive. Two Indian exhibits start the visitor first. He sees that they would like, and a Japanese Kano exhibit in one of the rooms displays the cream of the delicate work of the Japanese. The room is filled with many pictures of more or less merit, and some of them appeal strongly to an artist's eye. Fronting the door is a magnificent mahogany cabinet, the work of Henry Bohrmann of this city, and works of vertu.

Fronting in the lobby the Woman's Christian Temperance Union set a new table with good coffee, at a quarter a meal. The tables are decked with flowers, and the young women with their faces and hair for only 10 cents. The fruit and flowers are over the tables, and up here at the end of the gallery is an exhibit, small compared with the one on the other side, but in itself to constitute a county fair in the Northern Citrus Belt. The quality is away above par.

The entries will close this evening, and the judges will enter upon their duties. The competitive drill of the Odd Fellows will be held on the great floor of the Pavilion at 8 p. m., and a grand parade will be attracted. The management have decided that hereafter all members of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows shall be admitted free of charge to the Pomological Fair.

The children of the Protestant Orphan Asylum will take part in the parade tomorrow forenoon at 10 o'clock. Maj. Bonebrake has offered to pay their horse-car fare from the asylum to the fair, and the things will probably be like Eve in the garden, they will want an apple pretty bad, let me say that one.

The San Gabriel schools open today. Judge W. P. Gardner is rusticiating at his San Gabriel ranch.

The wineries are all busy crushing grapes.

Rev. Father Dockery of St. Vincent's College celebrated mass and preached at San Gabriel on Sunday, the 9th inst. Father Dockery is a native of this State, and weighs only 330 pounds.

The Republicans had a very enthusiastic and successful meeting at Alhambra, on Tuesday last. The Democrats celebrated on Saturday evening. The latter are making special efforts to insure the election of their candidates for Sheriff and County Clerk. I have been reliably informed that they are already in the field offering to trade anything else on their tickets for votes for these two offices.

Martin Aguirre, especially, will have a hard fight, but he, of all the other candidates, ought to win. Should he be defeated, it will go to support the truth of the adage that republics are ungrateful.

The following lines are from a recent number of Henry George's paper: Judge Thayer's speech at Fort Huachuca has made clear even to Mr. Dana of the New York Sun that the Democracy is headed toward the destruction of protection. That's what's the matter with Democracy, and that's what will insure its defeat.

Mr. E. Steele of San Francisco, who is registered at the San Gabriel, claims to be able to get away with the white and all other scale bugs infecting our orchards. Should he be successful, his plan will add untold millions to the value of our Southern California lands. There are several new buildings going up in the valley. Among them is a neat residence for Mr. O. W. Longdon, to cost $2000, just west of the San Gabriel. Mr. Longdon believes in spending his money where he made it. S. G.

Harrison, and I think Indiana will give a majority for the Republican ticket."
